

Timothy Raggatt QC – Barrister

Called 1972 (Silk 1993)

Introduction:

After two years training bar final students Timothy joined the Birmingham Bar in 1974 and thereafter practised as a junior in Birmingham until taking Silk in 1993 then moving chambers to London

Timothy practises in all areas of criminal law but particularly murder, serious fraud, drug related offences, arson and serious sexual offences cases. He is also authorised to try all Serious Sexual Offences in his capacity as a Crown Court Recorder.

Timothy has appeared in a large number of complex and serious trials in the West Midlands and South East and in particular has been at the very forefront of most of the leading cases involving “Black on Black” gun crime in the West Midlands.

Timothy also played a central part as Leading Counsel in the recent evolution of the law of evidence on key witness protection issues such as anonymity and special protection measures advising the police in the Midlands on overall policy as well as on a case by case basis.

During recent years Timothy has been instructed all over the country in centres such as Leeds, Manchester, Birmingham and London. Timothy prosecutes for the CPS in the Midlands and Thames Valley areas and act for the defence on a national basis. As well as the above Timothy has an extensive referral practice in the Court of Appeal Criminal Division.

Through the cases that Timothy has conducted he has built up an extensive specialist knowledge in mobile phone technology and cell site analysis as well as in DNA techniques & medical issues related to homicide of young children.

Timothy was also instrumental in the introduction of Advocacy Training courses for the Bar on the Midland and Oxford Circuit in 1991 and continued to organise and teach on them up until 1998. The training in the UK is based upon the techniques of the distinguished Australian Professor George Hempel. Timothy was one of those originally trained by Professor Hempel himself when this form of training began in the early 1990's. Since 1998 he has continued to train advocates and advocacy trainers on a regular basis on behalf of the Inner Temple as a senior member of the Inn's Advocacy Training Committee.
